The local History library is in St Peter's Square, in the Central Library. If the people who I have sent/who lived in Lead Square) you may be able to continue to trace other relatives through the various census which have taken place since then.

I wonder if your relatives were the Schambes who had the factories in Rhoder, Middleton, to the north of Manchester. When I was a boy, a day out was to go and look at Schambes Chimney which was the highest Smoke Stack in Europe. If these are related to you then I am sure Parish Church at Rhoder will be able to furnish more information. As you are no doubt aware looking through records is a time consuming business and Mr Cooke is very busy and asked me to look through the Records I trust the information will be useful.
